Proceedings of the Society and the Board of Managers
June, 1913—June, 1916

Abstracts of Proceedings

JUNE 1913-JUNE 1916.

June 13, 1913. The following committee was appointed by the National Society to represent Massachusetts on the celebration of the 139th anniversary of the Journey of General Washington from Philadelphia to Cambridge to take command of the American Army June 23 to July 3, 1775: Henry F. Punderson, of Springfield, Chairman; (Geo. Washington Chapter originated the proposed celebration) Luther Atwood, of Lynn; Brig.-Gen. Philip Reade U. S. A. (Ret.) of Lowell; and George M. Rice, of Worcester.

July 11, 1913. Announcement was made of the death of John Adams, of Holden, one of our "actual sons" of Revolutionary sires, who died July 7, 1913, aged 99 years. He was a son of Elisha Adams, of Temple, Maine, who served in the Continental Army at West Point in 1781. It was voted that the Secretary send a letter sympathizing with his relatives in their bereavement, and expressing our high appreciation of his honorable life.

September 12, 1913. Markers for the graves of the following named soldiers of the Revolution were contributed to be placed in Holland, Mass. Benjamin Church, who had been one of Washington's Life Guard; Abel Adams, Bradley Webber; Captain Nehemiah May; Daniel Wallis, 2d, and Daniel Thompson.

FIELD DAY AT EXETER, N. H.

The annual Field Day was held October 18, 1913, at Exeter, N. H., in conjunction with the New Hampshire Society, S. A. R. On arrival at Exeter, the members with ladies assembled at the headquarters of the New Hampshire Society of the Cincinnati. The cheery fire in the great fireplace and the inspection of the quaint old house was greatly enjoyed. Equally enjoyable was an inspection of the recently restored Garrison House, the older part of which was built about 1650. Many visited the Academy buildings. Dinner was served in Unity Hall to about 100, members and guests. At its close Vice-President Frank E. Woodward introduced President Luther Atwood, who welcomed the company to his boyhood home, greeting the members of the New Hampshire Society and the representatives of other patriotic societies and briefly reviewed the historic past of Exeter. He was followed with addresses from Mrs. Charles Knowles Bolton, of Shirley, vice-regent of the Massachusetts Society, Daughters of the Revolution; Mrs. Clinton Hatch, regent of Exeter Chapter, D. A. R.; Professor James A. Tufts, of Phillips Exeter Academy; Rev. Howard F. Hill, of Concord, Secretary of the New Hampshire Society, S. A. R., and Judge Henry A. Shute. The afternoon was spent informally. Professor Tufts escorted a party to look over the Academy buildings, and others sought various places of interest.

November 14, 1913. It was voted to add to our library a copy of the revised edition of Heitman's Historical Register of Officers of the Continental Army.

December 12, 1913. It was voted to admit to membership men of 21 years of age, who pay the regular admission fee, and to remit three-fourths of the annual dues until they reach the age of 25 years.

It was voted to invite former President Francis H. Brown, M. D. to prepare a "Hand-Book of Information," defining the objects of the Society, for general distribution. It was voted to reaffirm the approval of the Society of an Act of Congress, approved March 2, 1913, relating to the publication of military and naval records of the Revolutionary War.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Since February 22, 1914 fell on Sunday, the celebration of Washington's 183rd birthday was held on Monday, February 23rd, at Hotel Vendome, Boston. Marshall Putnam Thompson gave an historical address on Lafayette, and Rev. Newton M. Hall, D.D., of Springfield, gave an address on Washington; also read several letters supposed to give an insight into the character of former President Washington. After the addresses, there was an informal luncheon. The attendance was nearly 150 members and guests. The four flags belonging to the society decorated the speaker's platform.

February 13, 1914. Upon the petition of compatriot John Blanchard, of West Acton, it was voted to incur the expense of adding the name of Luther Blanchard, the fifer of the Acton Minute-men, to the monument at Acton, provided that town would allow it to be done. Luther Blanchard was the first man wounded at the skirmish at the North Bridge, Concord, April 19, 1775, and subsequently died from the effect of the wound.

March 13, 1914. It was voted that the Society endorse the suggestion made by President-General R. Ballard Thruston, that the Society urge Massachusetts Senators and Congressmen to favor an appropriation be made by Congress for continuing the work now in progress for collecting and classifying, with a view to publication, the scattered military and naval records of the War of the Revolution.

It was voted to nominate President Luther Atwood for the Massachusetts Representative on the Board of Trustees of the National Society, S. A. R. In reply to a request from William C. Armstrong, of Nutley, N. J. for the places of burial of the Massachusetts Signers of the Declaration of Independence, the Secretary sent him the following:

John Hancock (1737-1793): Tomb in the Granary Burying Ground, Boston; Samuel Adams (1722-1803): Tomb in same ground; John Adams, (1735-1826): Tomb under the First Church, Quincy, Mass.; Elbridge Gerry, (1744-1814): Tomb erected by Congress in the Congressional Cemetery, Washington, D. C.; Robert Treat Paine (1731-1814): Tomb in the Granary Burying Ground, Boston.

April 10, 1914. It was voted to place a slate tablet on the grounds of the Public Library, Watertown, having the following inscription: "Washington passed this place on his way to Cambridge to take command of the patriot army, June-1775-July." It was also voted to recommend a uniform pattern of the same tablet be placed in towns through which Washington passed on his journey from Philadelphia to Cambridge June 23-July 3, 1775.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING, APRIL 20, 1914.

The 25th anniversary of the formation of the Massachusetts Society, falling on Sunday, the Annual Meeting was held on Monday, April 20, 1914 in the Old South Meeting House, Boston. President Luther Atwood, of Lynn, presided. The trooping of the colors by a Color Guard and the salute to the flag opened the exercises. Prayer was offered by Rev. Lewis Wilder Hicks, of Wellesley.

President Atwood delivered an address briefly reviewing the work accomplished by the society during the year; the outlook for the ensuing year was most encouraging.

Dr. Charles M. Green submitted his twenty-second annual report, which showed receipts of $4020.13; expenditures, (including $240 carried to the permanent fund) of $3999.03; and a cash balance April 15, 1914 of $21.10 in general fund. The auditing committee, Col. Ephraim Stearns, chairman, reported the treasurer's accounts were correct, and the permanent fund, amounting to $7592, is on deposit in approved savings bank; and that the reserve fund, amounting to $525.57, is on deposit in the State Street Trust Company. Total net assets $8138.67. Historian Brig.-Gen. Philip Reade read the names of 52 members who had died during the year.

The following delegates to the Congress of the National Society, to be held in Syracuse, N. Y. May 18 and 19, 1914, were appointed: President Luther Atwood, (Delegate at large) Webster Bruce, Dr. W. E. Boardman, E. J. Cox, E. B. Hutchinson, H. W. Kimball, W. S. Lyon, J. W. H. Myrick, J. G. Moseley, J. E. Peirson, Dr. M. G. Parker, A. F. Powers, H. F. Punderson, David Pingree, F. Rumrill, Gen. Philip Reade, A. H. Stearns, Col. E. Stearns, Nathan Warren.

Secretary Herbert W. Kimball submitted his annual report showing a total membership of 1600, of which 54 are life members, and four "actual sons" of soldiers of the Revolution. This being the "Silver Anniversary" of the Society, the Secretary briefly reviewed some of the work it had accomplished during the past twenty-five years.

Originally organized April 19, 1889 at Tremont Temple, Boston, under the name of "Sons of the Revolution of Massachusetts," upon the formation of the National Society it became the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

It was one of the earliest societies to recommend that in place of "Fast Day" the State appoint April 19th a legal holiday. Governor Wm. E. Russell favored it in a special message to the Judiciary of the Legislature, June 13, 1892. The bill substituting the 19th of April for "Fast Day," brought before the Legislature in 1893, failed of passage until its enactment the following year. Gov. Frederick T. Greenhalge gave it his support, and from him it took the name of "Patriots' Day."

This Society was among the earliest to observe the day by holding its annual meeting at Concord, April 19, 1894.

The first dinner given by the Society took place at the Parker House, June 17, 1889. The first "Field Day" was held at Concord, October 19, 1889, the anniversary of the Surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va. The first observance of Washington's birthday was held at Hotel Vendome, February 22, 1901.

At the dedication of the monument at Bennington, Vt. August 19, 1891, to commemorate the battle of August 16, 1777, this Society sent a delegation of 27 members.

At the Field Day held at Marblehead, October 19, 1893, a design for an iron marker for graves of soldiers of the Revolution was adopted and fifty were ordered to be made for samples to be given to city or town authorities, who should apply for them, so that town appropriations could be voted for memorial purposes. Previous to the introduction of the iron marker, by request of the Society, many towns on Memorial Day decorated their soldiers' graves with flags.

The City of Boston appropriated $50 for purchasing markers which were placed by a committee from the Society at graves in Copps Hill, King's Chapel, the Granary, the Common, Eustis Street, Charlestown, Forest Hill, Mount Auburn and West Roxbury burial-grounds. The Society has also placed additional markers in those cemeteries, and over 150 for Revolutionary soldiers buried in the North Dorchester Cemetery.

A bronze marker was placed October 19, 1894 at Lafayette's grave in Picpus Cemetery, Paris, France, by the late Captain Nathan Appleton, bearing the words "Lafayette: a tribute from the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, 1894." Through Captain Appleton's solicitation, two great-great grandsons of Lafayette were made honorary life members of the Society, viz: Gaston de Sahune and Paul de Sahune Lafayette, of France.

Circulars were repeatedly sent to the Selectmen of every town in the State, asking for their influence to recommend appropriations of money for marking the graves of Revolutionary Soldiers and Sailors.

As early as 1897 the Society sent out circulars to the Town Clerks in Massachusetts, asking their co-operation in securing a fitting and universal observance of the Fourth of July. A "Safe and Sane" method of celebration was suggested.

The Society made liberal donations towards the preservation of the Hancock-Clarke House, at Lexington; the Royal House, at Medford, the Bellingham-Cary House, at Chelsea, Paul Revere's House, Boston, and the Shirley-Eustis House at Roxbury. It also made a generous donation towards equipping a hospital-ship for use during the Spanish war of 1898. It presented to the Paul Revere School, Boston, portraits and busts of eminent patriots, and contributed towards repairing the "Old North" meeting house. Memorial service was held December 14, 1899 in Association Hall to observe the 100th anniversary of Washington's death.

Bronze tablets have been placed at the tomb of Gen. John Greaton, in Eustis Street, (Roxbury) burial-ground; also, tablets on boulders in North Dorchester and Walter street (Roslindale) burial-grounds, marking the burial places of unknown patriots who died in hospitals during the Siege of Boston. A tablet was placed on the Savings Bank Building, Medford, to mark the site of the home of Gov. John Brooks; also, on the house once the home of Capt. Jonathan Haradin, (the Naval commander), Salem; also, on a bowlder in Danvers Square to commemorate the Quebec Expedition; also, on Hotel Essex, Boston, marking, approximately, the site of the birth-place of Major General Henry Knox.

An important work done by the Society, aided by individual contributions, was the building of a "Bay" in the "Cloister of the Colonies" for the Washington Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge. Donations were made for a tablet placed by the Daughters of the American Revolution on the Paul Jones Schoolhouse, East Boston; also, towards a tablet placed by the Malden Chapter, S. A. R., and the D. A. R. at Malden, in memory of Malden's Revolutionary soldiers; also, for the tablet placed by the Paul Jones Club of Portsmouth, N. H. to mark the site of the ship-yard where the "Ranger" was built; also, for a tablet placed on a bowlder at Lanesboro, in memory of Jonathan Smith, whose speech carried the State Convention for ratifying the Federal Constitution; also, for the tablet placed on the site of Easton's tavern, Pittsfield, by the Berkshire County Chapter, S. A. R., to commemorate the gathering place of the patriots who planned the capture of Ticonderoga; also, for the memorial flag-staff, erected in Cambridge by the Daughters of the American Revolution; also, for the beautiful monument at Brooklyn, N. Y. erected in memory of the Prison Ship Martyrs; also, for the fund raised for the sufferers from the Great Fire in San Francisco; also, for the new building erected by the New England Historic Genealogical Society. Contributions have annually been made to the American Flag Association; the Society for the preservation of American Antiquities; and the Committee for Co-operation in Patriotic work.

Several Chapters of the Society have placed tablets marking historic places: George Washington Chapter, of Springfield, placed one to commemorate the end of "Shays' Rebellion," and another at West Springfield, marking the camp-ground of Cornwallis's captured Hessians; also, one marking the site of Parsons' Tavern. Boston Chapter has placed a tablet opposite the City Hall commemorating the protest the school-boys made to the British soldiers against spoiling their coasting-place; also, a "Washington's Journey" tablet at Waltham. Also a "Boston Massacre" slate tablet in the Granary grounds. Old Essex Chapter, of Lynn, also placed a Washington's Journey tablet opposite the Wayside Inn, South Sudbury. Our Treasurer, Dr. Charles M. Green, also placed one at Leicester. Worcester

Chapter placed one in Lincoln Square; citizens of Weston placed one, all of which indicated General Washington's passing those places to take command of the Continental Army at Cambridge. Old Suffolk Chapter, of Chelsea, placed a tablet on the Boulevard, commemorating the battle of Chelsea Creek; also, it has contributed towards marking other historic sites in Chelsea, and the preservation of the Bellingham-Cary house. Old Middlesex Chapter, of Lowell, placed a tablet in Dracut in memory of its Revolutionary soldiers. Through a liberal contribution from Gen. Francis Henry Appleton, a portrait of James Otis was painted by Walter Gilman Page and loaned to the Bostonian Society. With one exception (1908, when a dinner took its place) "Field Days" have annually been held; commencing at Concord, October 19, 1889, to celebrate the anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va., an anniversary observed for several succeeding years.

Behind the speakers' table, the National and State colors were displayed.

June 12, 1914. On motion of Mr. Webster Bruce, of Lynn, it was voted to form the "Washington Guard of the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution" to be organized on the plan of the New Jersey Society.

CELEBRATION OF WASHINGTON'S JOURNEY IN 1775.

"To commemorate the completion of its first quarter of a century of patriotic activity, the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution celebrated the 139th anniversary of the memorable journey of Gen. George Washington, in 1775, from Philadelphia to take his place as Commander-in-Chief of the American forces encamped at Cambridge, an army of some 18,000 patriot yeomanly hastily gathered to prevent further incursions of the British army from Boston after the fights at Lexington and Concord." A committee of fifteen was appointed, three from each of the five States along the route, to carry out a plan to mark the way with appropriate tablets and to organize a pilgrimage of members of the Society to repeat the journey in automobiles, traversing as nearly as practicable the identical highways taken by Washington and his party from June 23 to July 2, 1775.

The principal objects of the celebration were to inspire the community at large with a more profound reverence for the founders of our nation, to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution, to arouse greater interest in the preservation of our national traditions, and to create a more active spirit of patriotism throughout the region traversed. The "Pilgrims" started from Philadelphia June 23, 1914, passing through Trenton, N. J., New York City, New Haven, Wethersfield and Hartford, Conn. On reaching Springfield, June 30, a reception was given by the George Washington Chapter. Formal presentation was made to the city of a bronze tablet, which the Chapter had placed in Court Square to mark the site of Parsons' Tavern, where Washington stopped. Leaving Springfield, July 1, the "Pilgrims" tarried briefly at Palmer, Warren, West Brookfield and Spencer; at the latter place a granite marker had been placed by the Historical Society, bearing an inscription showing that Washington had passed that place to take command of the army. Continuing on through Leicester, Worcester was reached in the afternoon of July 1. Here a reception by the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution was held, and afterwards a tablet in Lincoln Square was unveiled. The "Pilgrims" were escorted by a cavalcade of riders in Colonial costumes. In the evening a dinner at the Bancroft Hotel was attended by a large number of members and ladies. Leaving Worcester, July 2d, the first stop was at Shrewsbury, where the Gen. Artemas Ward house was visited; then at Marlboro, where the party were entertained by the D. A. R.

This cut is inserted solely to illustrate the character of the tablets erected in Massachusetts at time of The Washington Pilgrimage.

Chapter, and a visit made to William's Tavern, noted as Washington's stopping place, in 1789. At Weston, a marker placed in the Public Square was unveiled with appropriate exercises. At the Wayside Inn, in South Sudbury, luncheon was served. A delegation from Old Essex Chapter, of Lynn, were present, and a "Washington's Journey" tablet was unveiled. Three more tablets were dedicated; one in Waltham, and two in Watertown, one of which was erected by the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co.

At a banquet at the Hotel Somerset, on the evening of July 2, given by the Massachusetts Society, addresses were made by President-General Thruston, President Atwood, Rev. Prescott Evans of Cambridge, and Hon. Edward Robbins, of Pennsylvania.

Patriotic exercises, on Friday, July 3d, near the "Washington Elm," on Cambridge Common, completed the commemorative march. The "Pilgrims" entered Cambridge accompanied by details from the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co., the Lexington Minute-men, headed by drummer and fifer dressed to represent the picture, called "The Spirit of 76," the Fusilier Veteran Corps, and the 7th company, Coast Artillery Co.; Brig.-Gen. Charles K. Darling was chief marshal; The exercises at the tree were in charge of Albert F. Amee, with President Luther Atwood as presiding officer. They included patriotic singing by children from a public school, addresses of welcome by Mayor Good, of Cambridge; G. P. Gardner, Jr., representing Harvard College; Stoughton Bell, of Cambridge Board of Trade; and an historical address by President-General Thruston. Later in the morning the "Pilgrims" were entertained by the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co. in its Faneuil Hall Armory.

August 1, 1914. The Society removed its office from 17 Milk Street to room 439 Tremont Building, Boston. The monthly meetings of the Board of Managers are held in the "Committee Room" No. 320, same building. During the summer markers were given to be placed at graves of the following Revolutionary soldiers: James Davenport, North Dorchester; Bezaliel Bennett, Shrewsbury; Col. Jeduthan Baldwin, North Brookfield; Edmund Stedman, Newton Lower Falls; Eliphaz Thayer, East Braintree.

Favored by beautiful weather the annual Field Day took place at South Sudbury. About one hundred members and guests, including many ladies, arrived by carriages and automobiles at Wayside Inn for dinner at 1 o'clock. Most of the party came to Concord by railroad and from there by automobiles and carriages to South Sudbury, passing on the way places of historic interest and stopping at Sudbury to look at the statue of the Minute-man and the ancient meeting house. A visit was also made to the monument to Captain Wadsworth, who with his men were killed in battle with Indians, in King Philip's War, April 18, 1676. After the dinner, Vice-President Frank E. Woodward, introduced President Luther Atwood, whose appropriate address was followed by addresses from former President Nathan Warren, Edward R. Lemon, Mrs. Nellie Rice Fiske, regent of Wayside Inn Chapter, D. A. R., and Brig.-Gen. Philip Reade, who briefly reviewed the part that Sudbury took in the Revolutionary War; a large proportion of its men responded to the Lexington alarm, and many were in the battle of Bunker Hill and the Siege of Boston. Sudbury filled its quota of men for the Continental Army.

At the business meeting, held after the dinner, it was voted to make a change in the By-Laws, viz: Art. 1, Sec. 3. to read:

"The annual dues of a member elected between September 1, of the current year and April 15, of the fiscal year, shall continue his membership until the end of the next succeeding fiscal year."

The address was delivered by Worthington C. Ford, secretary of the Massachusetts Historical Society, on "The Treaty of Ghent." Vice-President Woodward read an interesting announcement of the manner in which the original news of the signing of the Treaty reached Boston on Feb. 13, 1815. It was forwarded from New York immediately upon its receipt, and took thirty-two hours from New York to Boston. The charges for this "express" service amounted to $225.

TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL MEETING, APRIL 19, 1915.

The Annual Meeting was held this day at 10:30 o'clock in the Old South Meeting House, Boston. President Luther Atwood presided. The colors of the Nation, the State, and the Society were brought forward by the Color Guard, and saluted by the members standing, after which prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Lewis Wilder Hicks. In his annual address, President Atwood spoke of the prosperous and harmonious condition of the Society, and reviewed some of his official acts during the year. He said that he was often asked for what his society stood; and he said "that it taught men for one thing, to have deeper veneration for the institutions which make the people of this country what they are to-day, and if there ever was a time for the expression of true statesmanship, that crisis is now."

The annual reports of the Secretary-Registrar, the Treasurer, the Historian and the Auditors were read by those officials; Secretary Kimball reported for the year ending March 31, the membership was 1632, of whom 61 are life-members, and five are "actual sons" of soldiers of the Revolutionary War. Treasurer Green reported the receipts up to April 15 had been $3712.88 and the expenditures $3594.86 (of which $494 had been added to the Permanent fund) leaving a cash balance $118.42. The auditors found the accounts were correct, and that the net assets of the society were $8740.24.

General Philip Reade, the Historian, read the names of 37 members who had died during the year, among them Hon. Curtis Guild, who died April 6, 1915. President Atwood then called upon Mr. Frank E. Woodward to read the resolutions drawn on the death of Mr. Guild. "He was a man of rare gifts and used them freely in the service of his country. He distinguished himself in many fields of public service, but in none of them did he give more generously of his time and talents, nor in any were his sympathies more fully enlisted, than in the principles and ideals for which our Society stands. He was a well rounded man, with great breadth of vision and wide sympathies and blest with a great capacity for work and service."

It was RESOLVED, That this tribute to his memory be spread upon our records and that a copy be sent to his widow.

On motion of Mr. E. B. Hutchinson it was voted, that the Society set a part one day to be designated as "Church Day" and on the Sunday preceeding April 19th, appropriate services be held in some church in Boston.

THE WASHINGTON GUARD

OF THE

The idea of THE WASHINGTON GUARD was first proposed to the National Society of the SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION at the Congress held at Syracuse, N. Y., in May 1914, and there adopted; and its Constitution was adopted at the Congress at Portland, Ore., in 1915. It is now a recognized recruiting adjunct to the SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Massachusetts has a Commandery with two hundred and twenty-five members. Its annual meetings are held in Boston, February 22d. It is hoped that THE WASHINGTON GUARD will take a prominent part in the S. A. R. Congress, which, it is expected, will be held in Boston and Plymouth in 1920.

We quote from the Constitution as follows:

ARTICLE II — Objects.

ARTICLE III — Membership.

SEAL

THE SEAL of the National Society is one and seven-eighths of an inch in diameter, and consists of the figure of a minute-man standing by the side of a plough, surrounded by thirteen stars; the whole encircled by a band three-eighths of an inch wide, upon which in raised letters is the name of the Society, with the date of organization. That of the State Society is identical with that of the National Society, except that within the name of the parent society is the motto "Massachusetts Society, organized April 19, 1889."

INSIGNIA

THE BADGE—Obverse: A gold cross of four arms and eight points, of the same size as the Chevalier's Cross of the French Legion of Honor, with white enameled arms. In the centre is a gold medallion bust of George Washington in profile, surrounded by a ribbon in blue enamel, on which is the motto of the Society in gold letters, "Libertas et Patria." Between the medallion and the points of the cross is a laurel wreath. Reverse: Like the obverse; the medallion, however, has the figure of a minute-man, surrounded by a ribbon in blue enamel, containing in gold letters the words, "Sons of the American Revolution." The cross is surrounded by an eagle in gold, suspended by a silk ribbon of blue, white, and buff.

The cross is a reproduction of the emblem of the French Order of St. Louis, with certain changes, and was adopted to commemorate the assistance given to the Colonies by Louis XVI, Grand Master of that Order. The medallion, containing the head of Washington and the figure of the minute-man, is fitly placed upon a cross of such an origin and associations.

THE ROSETTE—The rosette is a button in the shape of a raised cup, of blue, white, and buff ribbon. It is to be worn in the upper left-hand button-hole of the coat.

The only badge now authorized by the National Congress is that described above, superseding all forms previously used. The price of the badge, or cross of St. Louis, adapted to this Society, is nine dollars. It may be obtained of Messrs. J. E. Caldwell & Co., Philadelphia, by permit issued by the Registrar-General, which will be furnished by the Registrar. The rosette may be procured of the Registrar for twenty-five cents.

THE OFFICIAL MARKER

The subject of identifying and marking the graves of Revolutionary soldiers and sailors has for some time engaged the attention of the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

The General Court of Massachusetts, by an act passed in 1884, authorized towns to appropriate money for the purpose of erecting headstones or other monuments to the memory of the patriot dead.

The design adopted by the Massachusetts Society follows the insignia badge of the Society, having the letters S. A. R. (Soldier American Revolution) on three of the arms, and the figures 1775 on the fourth arm of the cross. A list of soldiers and sailors whose graves have been designated was printed in connection with the Society's Year Books of 1901 and 1904.

THE LETTERS "S. A. R." on the cross of the marker, which can stand for a Soldier (or Sailor) of the American Revolution, indicate, to some extent, that this Society placed the marker in position on the grave. This is somewhat misleading, as other patriotic societies have joined in the laudable purpose of marking the graves of Revolutionary soldiers and sailors with this marker.

The National Congress, at its session in 1894, adopted the design for its official marker, and recommended its use by all the State Societies. At the session of 1903 the changes suggested by the Massachusetts Society (a smaller marker made of bronze instead of iron) were approved.

Full information for procuring the markers may be obtained from the Registrar.

Marble headstones, suitably inscribed for marking the graves of soldiers or sailors of the Revolution, are furnished free of charge upon application to the Quartermaster General, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.

LETTER OF ALEXANDER H. STEVENS

NEW YORK, October 1817.

DEAR SIR,

I have read to my father, General Ebenezer Stephens, your very able vindication of the character of our illustrious Washington from the attack of Mr. Chalmers, in relation to the execution of Major André & the capture of Lord Cornwallis.

My father informs me that when General Robinson's letter to the Commander in Chief was read to Major André in presence of the Court Martial the latter declared that he considered himself a spy—that he was taken in the vile garb he then wore & that General Robinson's arguments were futile. This was a statement of the circumstances universally made and credited.

During the period of Major André's confinement his table was supplied from that of the Commander-in-Chief & among other marks of attention shown to the unfortunate captive, two accomplished officers, Major Sumner* of the Massachusetts Line, & I think Capt. Hopkins* of the Connecticut Line, were assigned to be his companions with a view to afford every consolation his situation admitted of—

A Detachment from the several corps of the army amounting to about 1,000 men of which my father commanded the artillery, was present at the execution. The Gallows was erected on an eminence about one quarter of a mile in the rear of the house in which Major André resided. It could not be seen from that house by reason of the crookedness of the road to it & intervening buildings & trees— That it was not erected previous to the morning of execution General Stevens well recollects for he saw the mechanics returning with their tools from the work of raising it on his way to place of execution about 8 o'clock that morning—

Major André walked unconfined to the place of execution between the two officers his companions & when he reached the spot General Glover,* officer of the parade, read aloud the proceedings of the Court Martial and asked Major André in my fathers hearing if he had anything to say—

“Bear testimony” said he “that I die like a brave man” He then assisted in adjusting his neckcloth over his eyes; his arms were confined with his pocket-handkerchief—It was a most solemn scene & on every face were depicted the deepest emotions of regret—After the body had hung about half an hour it was delivered to his servant who had been sent from New York with the uniform in which he was hung & by him interred—

In relation to the second charge against General Washington that he took from Lord Cornwallis his sword my father states that he was at Yorktown during the whole of its seige—He never heard that Lord Cornwallis, or any other British officer made prisoner at that time, was deprived of his Sword. In fact Lord Cornwallis was, or feigned, to be sick at the time of his surrender & did not show himself for several days.—During the ceremony my father was on the right of the American line—The British Major-General O’Hara second in command led the English troops between the French & the American lines & the latter of whom immediately struck up the tune of Yankee Doodle—In the afternoon of the same day the British returned to their former quarters & the utmost good fellowship prevailed among the English, Hessians, Americans & French, who lived almost promiscuously together—

I am respectfully yours,

ALEX H. STEVENS.

LETTER OF CAPT. JOHN VAN DYK

JOHN PINTARD, Esq<sup>re</sup>:

Sir

Agreeable to the request you made Sometime Since, I hearwith communicate to you in writeing, according to the best of my recollection, what I knew & what I had Seen, and heard respecting Major André, from the time he left the house where he was Confined, to the time of his Execution.

I was one of four Officers that accompanied him to the fatal Spot & was So near to him that I could hear & see all that Occured dureing the time. A strong guard paraded before the dwelling house where Major André was Confined, he was attended in his room Night & day by two American officers, and Sentinals were placed around the House.

there were about Six Steps which led into the Stoop of the house, on the right of these Steps one American Officer with myself was Standing—when Major André came out of the front door of the house in Regimentals, hooking his Armes with the two American Officers* (his attendants) one on his right & left, he ran down the Steps of the Stoop as quick & lively as tho no Execution was to take place & immediately fell into the centre of the guard a place assigned him.

In this Situation the Commanding Officer gave Command, forward March. The whole marched off, Drums & fifes beating & Playing lively tunes, Major André & the two Officers keeping time, Major André Said, I am very much Surprised to find your troops under so good discipline, and your Music is Excellent

I had taken my Station close on the left of Major Andrés left hand officer & Continued in that Station the whole March—the guard marched a Short distance when they wheeld to the left turning a corner of the road, and marched a Short distance when they again wheeld to the left, in order to pass threw a fence, haveing entered a field, they marched forwards a Short distance, wheeld to the right & halted—the grown here was level—a little distance in front was a moderate assending Hill, on the top of which the gallows was Erected. In the position where thay halted, Major André was for the first time in vew of the gallows. Major André here said, gentlemen, I am desappointed, I Expected my request (which was to be shot) would have been granted—no answer was given & he continued with his arms locked with those of the two Officers.

In a few minutes the guard marched off, assended the Hill & halted, at this time Major André was about twenty feet from the gallows—when he put his hands upon hips, looked up to the gallows, then bowed his head a little down, vewed his feet, and so up, until his head rose to its natural position, biting his underlip and Shakeing his head—at which time I discovered a Small flush moveing over his left Cheek (I supposed at the time, he looked at the gallows and vewed himselfe from the feet upwards) that he was reflecting upon the untimely end he had to come to

In a few minutes the hangman let the waggon under the gallows, and the Commanding Officer then said, Major André, you will please to get on the waggon, Major André advanced to the hinder part of the waggon, putting his hands upon It, made a motion as tho intending to Jump on, but faltering, he put his right knee on, and then raised himselfe up into the waggon, turned himself to the guard, placing his hands on his hips.

* Lieut. Samuel Bowman, Lexington, Mass.
Captain John Hughes, 2nd Canadian Regiment.

The Commanding Officer, who was on horseback, then Said, Majr André, If you have anything to say, you can now Speak, for you have but a short time to live, Major André with his hands on his hips, Said, "I have nothing more to say Gentlemen," but this, "you all bare me witness, that I meet my fate as a brave man,"—the hangman then assended into the waggon, and Stood on Major André's right hand, when in the act of opening the noose of the halter Major André, with his right hand, made a moderate Snatch, took the halter out of the hangmans hand, took off his hat, put It down, then took off his white Neckcloth, and put It in his right hand coat pocket after which, with his forefinger of his right hand, he pushed down the collar of his Shirt & opening the knot of the halter, he put It over his head & drew the knot close on the right side of his neck—he then tied a white handkerchief over his eyes, with much apparent composure of mind—the hangman haveing secured the end of the halter to the top of the gallows, descended from the waggon—the Commanding officer directed the hangman to tie his armes Slack behind him—Major André then takeing a white handkerchief out of his right hand coat pocket, gave It to the hangman, who tied his armes as directed (this was don that he shuld not rais his armes while hanging) the Commanding Officer then gave a Signal, by the falling of his Sword, for the hangman to drive off—the hangman then led the horses from under the gallows, and Major André Swingd off he had not hung more than half a minute, neither had he as yet, made any Struggle, when the Commanding Officer, ordered a Soldier to bare down on his Shoulders, that he might not be long in agony, and he immediately died,—neither did Major André Struggle in the least—nor did he hang a quarter of the time usual In such Cases—the Commanding Officer Ordered two Soldiers to bear him up, one on each side, with one arm under his Shoulders, and one under his thigh—the Commanding Officer then cut the halter—when the two Soldiers bore him away from the gallows to the Coffin

Major André was not Suffered to fall on the ground, every attention & respect was paid to Major André, that It was possible to pay to a man in his Situation—nither did I discover any thing in either Officer or Soldier, but a deep Sorrow for Major André, and a Strong desire and wish, that the Trator Arnold, shuld have bin Executed In his Stead—and altho the talents of Major André as an Officer & his knowledge of the works at West Point would have been much against the American cause, had he been Spared, Still every Officer and Soldier In the Army, would have lifted both hands for the Exchange of Major André, for Genl. Arnold—This Exchange was offered by Genl Washington—but refused by Genl Clinton the British Com-mander In Chief In New York—so the life of a Traytor was Saved, and Major André fell a Sacrefise when Major André was Cut down & borne by the two Soldiers to the Coffin, a short distance off, I did not follow after the Corps, but was repeatedly informed by different Officers, while I remained on the grownd, that Major Andrés Servant, that came from New York, was present takeing of his Coat and Boots, with his hat, for the purpose of Conveying them to New York—this was the general report on the ground where he was Executed, and was generally beleaved then & afterwards

I Presume It will not be amiss for me to State, that dureing the American Revolution, West Point was allowed to be a Strong place, well fortified and of grate Importance to the United States—and the key of Communication between the Eastern & Southern States—Indeed It was a Common Saying In the City of New York at the time, among the British Officers and Soldiers—that West Point was the young Gibraltar. Being afraid to attempt takeing It by forse of armes—they made the attempt by bribery and Corruption.

A MASSACHUSETTS MILITIA REGIMENT IN NEW YORK

Nine regiments of Massachusetts militia were in New York, November 28, 1776, under command of Major Gen. Benjamin Lincoln. One regiment made no "Return" to Massachusetts, and was ordered to report to Gen. George Clinton, Governor of New York. This regiment was commanded by Col. Nathan Sparhawk, of Barre, and its Captains were appointed from different regiments in the Worcester County Brigade, "to enlist, or draft, men to join a regiment to be raised by Col. Josiah Whitney, or Colonel Sparhawk." It appears that Colonel Whitney had marched to Danbury, Conn., December 17, 1776, with Capt. Fortunatus Eager's company of his regiment, and was allowed for mileage (180 miles) by the Selectmen of Harvard. Captain Eager made a "Return" and was allowed for three months' services in the Jerseys.

In the "Memoirs of Major Gen. William Heath," pages 95, 97, 98 are found the following references to Colonel Sparhawk's regiment: "Dec. 30, 1776, Colonel Sparhawk's regiment of militia arrived from Massachusetts; Jan. 5, 1777, Col. Sparhawk's regiment of militia from Massachusetts, with two field pieces, marched from King's Ferry on their way to the Jerseys. Jan. 9, 1777, the remainder of Col. Sparhawk's and Col. Whitney's regiments passed over the river to join Gen. Washington."

The Public Papers of Gov. George Clinton, of New York, Vol. I, pages 536, 537, give the following correspondence of Gen. Benjamin Lincoln and Gov. George Clinton:

MASSACHUSETTS JOINS NEW YORK

Sunday (Jan.-1777.)

DEAR GENERAL:—

The bearer Coll. Sparhawk commands the detachment of Militia from Massachusetts Bay, ordered to join you. I should not do you justice, should I ask your notice of him, and that you would grant every indulgence to his Corps, which the good of the service will admit, as that would suggest I entertained an idea that a different mode of conduct could take place. I know I have said enough when I inform you that these troops are to be under your particular direction. That they are Lovers of freedom, & are determined to fight in support of it.

I am, dear General, with the most perfect regard and esteem

Your hum'e Serv.

B. LINCOLN.

General Clinton.

ANNUAL ADDRESS

OF THE

PRESIDENT S. A. R., APRIL 19, 1916

COMPATRIOTS:—

It becomes the duty as it is the privilege of your president at the close of his year's service to render an account of his stewardship. If we are to measure results by what is visible only to the eye—I cannot say that much has been accomplished. But we have not been unmindful of the principles upon which our Society was founded and have done what we could to maintain and defend American ideals whenever and wherever opportunity has offered.

Whatever may have been the measure of success or failure we have done our best. I wish especially to place on record my deep appreciation of the loyal support which your Board of Managers has given me, and to here publicly testify to their loyalty, patriotism and public spirit.

I am not unmindful of the honor and dignity which the presidency of this great patriotic society confers, but I appreciate still more, if that were possible, the warm friendships which it has been my privilege to form during the seven years I have served as an officer of this organization.

In view of the overshadowing importance of the great European war, which makes it difficult for our voices to be heard above the din of battle, your directors decided that it would be wise this year to change somewhat the established line of work.

As you know our members are scattered all over the Commonwealth. Our meetings being infrequent we do not get well acquainted; so it was decided early in the season that your board of managers would visit in a body, so far as it was possible, all the different Chapters in the state that showed any signs of life. We did so that we might in a more direct way impress our members with the thought that there was something for us all to do, that we were members of one great patriotic society whose influence in the community was in proportion to its unity of purpose, and its ability to act as a cohesive force. At the same time we sought their advice and counsel as to the best way to forward the ends we both had in view.

In this spirit we visited most of the Chapters of the State—viz: Lynn, Springfield, Northampton, Worcester, Lowell, Salem, Malden, Chelsea, Roxbury, East Walpole and Boston, and we have in prospect visits to Pittsfield and Taunton.

I returned home from these trips more than ever convinced of the value of Chapters as an adjunct of the Society and an element of great strength. They keep alive and active that fraternal feeling so essential to the enthusiastic support of any cause. I wish every member could belong to one. While this is not practicable at this time, there are numerous large centres of population scattered throughout the State where with little exertion by some enterprising member a chapter could be easily formed.

We have granted charters to two new Chapters this year, viz: East Walpole and Edgartown and have laid foundations for one or two more. I do not wish in what I have to say to trespass on the province of the Registrar, but I must add a word of commendation to the good work done by the committee on increase of membership. We have added 156 new members to the society this year making a total of 1700; the largest number ever admitted any one year and making the total membership larger than that of any other state in the Union.

We wish to add as many more the coming year, and ask your hearty coöperation.

WASHINGTON GUARD

There has been formed recently in some of the States, notably in New Jersey and Massachusetts an organization called the "Washington Guard"—composed of the sons and grandsons of our members who are under the age of twenty-one years. It is not confined exclusively to decendants of our members, but is open to all boys who would on coming of age be eligible to membership.

The object being to inspire a patriotic spirit in the youth of today, and to make them co-workers with us in our endeavor to preserve and maintain those national characteristics by which the liberty and unity of our country has been secured. The organization of the Massachusetts Commandery has been under the management of Vice-President Bruce who has given much time and thought to its development.

It now contains 150 members and is rapidly growing.

In 1920 as you are all doubtless aware will occur the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. Massachusetts proposes to celebrate that event in a manner worthy of its great importance in the development of freedom and self-government on this continent.

The Sons of the American Revolution will participate in that celebration. With that purpose in view the Board of Managers has already extended an invitation to the National Society to be our guests on that occasion. We must be prepared to give them a royal welcome.

It has been said with much truth that American ideals are in danger. They are challenged both within our own borders and from across the sea. The majority of the inhabitants of Massachusetts today are either foreign-born or children of parents who were foreign-born, whose ideas of government are in most cases far different from our own. If it were not for the force of ideals working in the mass as a leaven, our system of government would indeed be in the greatest danger. Un-Americanized America takes on a new aspect when we contemplate the possibility of our own participation in the great war across the sea. The sons of the American Revolution I believe to be one of the instruments in the hands of an over-ruling Providence helping to preserve for the next generation the fundamental principles of this great Republic.

Our Society through organization, through public meetings and through chapter meetings, is all the time exerting a powerful influence in maintaining those ideals which distinguish America from the rest of the world: ideals for which our fathers gave their blood and treasure.

But the noblest example of patriotism, perhaps the noblest the world has ever seen, is being exhibited in France today. I sometimes wonder, if after all, whether war is that unmixed evil which some have held it to be, or if there is any other process which would serve to develop those nobler virtues of self-sacrifice and obedience, so essential to national efficiency.

There are some who would get rid of the difficulties of a foreign policy in an easy fashion by declaring that all war is wrong: while others allow war only when it is just or in self-defense but condemn it when it is aggressive. There are many difficulties in the way of this theory. Any arguments that are valid for the maintenance of law, courts or policemen, or prisons, are valid for the maintenance of defence, attacks from without, or for the protection of the routes of commerce. There is certainly a wide-spread feeling that self-defence is a legitimate excuse for the use of force: but self-defence is a very elastic term. We have seen a great nation invading and annexing a neighbors' territory—a neighbor with whom she had no quarrel—and declaring she is doing it in self-defence.

We pass judgment upon wars often from superficial reasons or without sufficient knowledge of the larger movement behind the actual conflict. But in looking back over our own history as we can now for one hundred and forty years, we see the events of 1775 in a better perspective and even England recognizes that the establishment of a representative self-governing nation on this continent was an upward movement in civilization. But our struggle for Independence was a civil war between two sections of the same race and of the same type of civilization. There is however in the world at all times, an inevitable conflict between inconsistent types of civilization. We have one on our hands now. With human nature what it is and human governments such as they are, the conflict cannot always be kept in peaceful channels. The acquisition of territory inhabited by lower races of men has in no case perhaps been free from some harshness and ill-treatment of the natives, but it is as inevitable that vigorous and enterprising white races should overflow into other lands as it is that water should run down hill, and the state which simply shuts its eyes to what its citizens are doing in distant lands, is shirking its responsibilities under the plausible pretext of non-intervention.

We believe representative government to be the highest form of government and representing today the highest type of civilization: but representative government is the result of war. It was war that produced Washington: It also produced Lincoln. Why war should be a necessity of national and human existence is an inscrutable problem. It seems to be that state of suffering by which nations and the human race have grown to civilization and the enjoyment of liberty.

Much as we may therefore wish and hope and pray for that era of perpetual peace which never yet has come, we cannot shut our eyes to the facts which confront us, and to the unerring prophecies which history has written on its scroll. It is our province at a safe distance in time from the past to criticise and pass judgment, and with the benefit of knowing all that has happened since, it is right to ask ourselves how our own generation will be judged at the bar of history one hundred years hence. Will people then look back on this period as a time of doubt and feebleness, of uncertain beliefs and selfish timidity or will they be grateful to us for facing our intellectual, political, and social problems boldly and honestly? Will they be able to pardon our mistakes and our delusions because of the spirit in which we tried to leave the world,—not worse, but a little better than we found it?
